

Clearway Steel Security Screens

High-level physical protection against illegal entry, resistant to arson attack and an effective visual deterrent.

Overview

Clearway's steel security screens are prefabricated from a single sheet of high-quality, zinc-coated, perforated steel that is folded to create a rigid box shape.

They are fitted to the outside of the property completely covering each entire window and frame and, using tamper-proof bolts, are secured to an internal steel frame thereby causing little or no damage to the existing window frame. The steel screens are perforated to allow ventilation and some light through and are painted a neutral stone colour.

By contrast, wooden door and window boarding may cost less but is ineffective as it can easily be removed and may even provide fuel for would-be arson attacks.

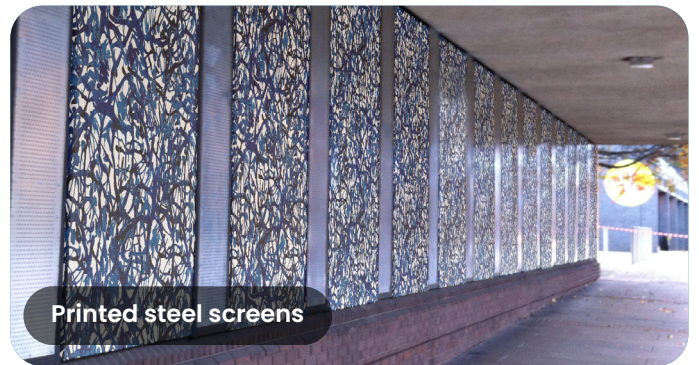

Clearway Perforated Steel Security Sheet

Where prefabricated/folded steel screens are not suitable, we will use sheets of perforated steel sheet, hand-cut on-site to fit difficult shapes or openings such as church arched or lancet windows. Wherever possible we will use only a single sheet of steel for each window or opening, not multiple smaller sheets riveted together.

Why Clearway Steel Security Screens?

- ✓ Highly effective visual criminal deterrent
- ✓ High-level physical protection
- ✓ Perforated to allow in light and ventilation
- ✓ Will cause no, or very little, physical damage to existing glass or framework
- ✓ Resistant to arson attack
